Construction

Construction projects are opening up and there is some recruitment within the sector. Early in the Pandemic lockdown there were problems with renewal and issuing of new CSSC cards. A system was put in place and the back log is being dealt with. A number of employers and trade bodies are working with DWP and NEPT to look at ways to convert classroom training to a virtual platform so that training, sbwas, etc. can progress. Each of these is being treated as a learning experience and consideration will be made as to how these can be rolled out on a larger scale. HS2 pledges to double its investment in graduate recruitment - HS2 will welcome 21 graduates and 22 apprentices into HS2 Ltd in September, in addition to the opportunities also available with the Joint Venture partners and across the supply chain.

The Armed Forces are actively recruiting via their on-line application process, with over 15,000 full time vacancies in the regular services and 8,000 part-time opportunities in the reserves. All full time vacancies offer the opportunity of an apprenticeship and many do not require any academic qualifications or previous experience. The Armed Forces recruit selection centres have now re-opened with appropriate COVID19 social distancing measures in place with those who are accepted being offered start dates in the relevant training establishment. Applications are via the Army, Royal Navy and RAF websites:

The British Army is actively recruiting into 106 varied job roles <https://apply.army.mod.uk/how-to-join/joining-process/virtual-acc>. A virtual army careers fair has been organised for our customers at 11am on 25 June. The event can be accessed here <https://meet36301315.adobeconnect.com/rdfoi3rmgkxv/>

The Royal Navy is recruiting across 108 job roles <https://www.royalnavy.mod.uk/careers/role-finder>

The Royal Air Force is currently recruiting for 63 different job roles <https://www.raf.mod.uk/recruitment/find-your-role>

A virtual Armed Forces week will commence on Monday 22 June 2020 during which the opportunity will be taken to showcase career opportunities in the regular armed forces as well as opportunities for service with the Reserves and volunteering with the Cadet Forces. Details have been sent to Service Leaders.
